TV Battle Is Slam-Bang

Debate Rivals Far Apart on Most Issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy fought a bristling television battle Friday night that left them miles apart on most campaign issues.

With millions of Americans looking on and listening in, the unsmiling presidential nominees found common ground on only a few topics.

Neither would go into any summit conference without prior diplomatic spadework and some tangible assurance that Soviet Premier Khrushchev meant to negotiate and not just to grind out propaganda.

If recession threatened, both would consider tax cuts to pump new life into the economy.

Each sees difficult times ahead, with spending for defense, economic assistance and other programs rising.

But from Cuba to Formosa Kennedy and Nixon disagreed on international affairs. They threw sharp remarks at each other about civil rights. They whacked at each other about the nation's position in the cold war. They hag-gled over the depressed areas problems and economic conditions generally.

Who won? Both sides thought they had, although the debaters themselves said the decision won't be known until next month's election.

This second of four scheduled debates had none of the polite to-dancing that marked the candidates' first encounter. They never used the word, but each came close to calling the other a liar.

More than once the cameras found Kennedy listening to his Republican opponent with an air of disbelief, a "What's this?" expression on his face.

Nixon, on the other hand, stared

General Assembly Approaches Vote on Red China Issue

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Premier Khrushchev, after threatening to uphold Soviet interests outside the United Nations by "relying on our own strength," was expected to address the U.N. General Assembly again today in another demand for disarmament without inspection.

The Assembly also neared the pivotal vote on Red China, a test of American strength and of the attitude of neutralist nations on this fiercely fought issue.

Si leaders were still to speak on whether the seating of Red China should be placed on the Assembly's agenda.

Vote Comes Afterward
The vote comes afterward. It was delayed Friday when Nigeria became the 90th member of the General Assembly. A parade of delegates—36 asked for the right to speak—trooped to the rostrum to welcome the new member.

A new development in the attention being paid to new members was the report from diplomatic sources that President Eisenhower has invited their delegates to a luncheon in Washington late next week. The report said the President would send a plane for them.

Seventeen newly independent countries—Cyprus and 16 in Africa—have been admitted to the U.N. since the Assembly session opened Sept. 20.

Khrushchev gave the U.N., and the world, a lot to think about, answering U.N. correspondents' questions. He said:

Assured of Summit Talks

1. Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain "assured me that a summit conference would take place."

2. As to maintaining the status quo on Berlin, he said that if a "summit conference is to be held shortly after the (presidential) elections in the United States, then I can say we shall keep our word."

3. He warned, however, "if you want me to give assurances that the status quo will be preserved without reaching an agreement to hold a summit conference, without reaching agreement on the case, then I can give no such assurances."

He called for a special session of the Assembly "to discuss just one question, that of elaborating a disarmament agreement and the appropriate measures of control." He wants it held in Europe no later than April next year and said Geneva, Moscow or Leningrad would do as a site.

Won't Accept Decision

5. Asked whether he would bow to the wishes of the Assembly if it voted, by two-thirds majority for U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld to remain at his post, Khrushchev said he would not accept the decision even if the vote were "99 per cent."

6. He backed his demand for a three-man secretariat with an

Negotiations Stalled, IBOP Chief Says

NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiations are reported stalemated in contract talks between the United States Pottery Association and the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters.

The report came from Union President E. L. Wheatley, who said there has been no progress toward agreeing on terms.

The contract talks, which began Tuesday, have been recessed until Monday, Wheatley said.

The Potters Association includes all major American manufacturers of dinnerware.

It has proposed a wage cut of six cents an hour as a means of competing with foreign imports and products of nonunion plants.

The union seeks a "substantial" wage increase and other benefits.

According to the employers, present average hourly wage rates are $2.25 for men and $1.69 for women.

Less than half the 17,000 workers in the industry are involved in the negotiations here, but the outcome is expected to set a pattern for the remainder of the industry.

Receives Stormy Applause

American Pianist Wows Audience In Moscow

MOSCOW (AP)—The 32-year-old American pianist Byron Janis opened a concert tour of the Soviet Union Friday night with a major triumph.

A sell-out crowd of 1,900 at Moscow conservatory gave the McKeesport, Pa., performer what honestly could be called stormy applause, peppered with shouts of "bravo."

He responded with three encores and even that was not enough. The audience refused to leave the hall until the manager accompanied Janis back to the stage and announced that the musician simply could not give another encore because he had to catch a train in less than an hour.

Then the stage lights were turned off and the audience, which included professors and students at the conservatory, finally left.

The U.S. Embassy contingent, headed by Ambassador Lewellyn Thompson, was astonished at the reception. At the beginning, the audience was cold and obviously expected a routine evening. There was even a catcall or two during the first few minutes.

But then the audience began to sit back and take notice and by the time Janis had worked his way through Mozart, Schumann, Schubert, Chopin, Copland and Liszt, every member of the audience was on his side.

Legion Band To Play Sunday Will Help Welcome Sen. John Kennedy

The American Legion Quaker City Band, the Leetonia High School Band and the Suzettes, a majorettes team from Columbiana will take part in the program Sunday evening when Democratic Presidential Candidate John F. Kennedy speaks at Reilly Stadium.

Sen. Kennedy is expected to arrive from Warren at about 6:30 and be escorted from the Ellsworth Road (Route 45) south to E. State St., east on State to Ohio Ave. and to the stadium.

George Hanson, president of the championship Legion Band, and Walter Krauss, post commander, explained today that the band, by appearing Sunday, was breaking a long-standing precedent and its own bylaws not to participate in any political activities.

They explained that because of the community welcome arranged special permission for the band's appearance had been granted by Ohio Legion officials and also by local Legion Commander Alex J. Blair of Jackson.

"The band would make its services available to the Republicans in case of a similar event," Mr. Hanson said. "This is not an endorsement necessarily, however."

The Leetonia High School band was invited after Salem school officials explained the Salem band was not permitted to appear at political functions.

Although clear weather is forecast for Sunday, the program will be transferred to the Junior High School auditorium in case of rain, it was announced.

The stadium program will include flag raising by the Legion and VFW color guards and invocation by the Rev. T.S.G. Whitney, rector of the Church of Our Saviour.

Mayor Dean B. Cranmer will give a short address of welcome and candidates and visiting officials will be introduced before Sen. Kennedy makes his talk at about 7 p.m.

2 Men Hurt In One of 4 Car Mishaps

Two area men were injured in one of four highway accidents investigated by the Lisbon barracks of the State Patrol Friday and early this morning.

Admitted to Salem City Hospital with lacerations of the chin was Paul D. Sargent, 22, of 77 Main St., Leetonia. His passenger, Dale Melvin of 910 E. Third St., Salem, was treated for lacerations of the chin and contusions of the body. He was not admitted.

The Patrol said the accident occurred at 4:30 a.m. today on Alternate Rt. 14, one mile east of Salem, when Sargent, traveling west, passed one truck but rammed into the rear of another which was also headed west.

The driver of the truck involved in the crash, Elmer Compton, 36, of Terre Haute, Ind., was not injured.

Sargent was cited for reckless operation.

Two other Salem men, Ralph C. Brain, 35, of RD 1, and James Elder, 20 of RD 2, escaped injury when their cars collided at 11 a.m. Friday on Rt. 62, four miles west of Salem.

The Patrol said Elder was making a left turn when his car was struck by Brain's. Brain was arrested for failure to stop in an assured clear distance.

Edward Feezie, 36, of RD 2, East Palestine, was cited for failure to yield the right of way after his car ran into one operated by Raymond Moss, 36, of RD 1, New Waterford, at 4:45 p.m. yesterday at Rts. 14 and 165, six miles east of Columbiana.

Neil F. Sheely, 21, of RD 1, Leetonia, escaped injury but was cited for reckless operation after he failed to negotiate a curve and rolled his car over on Rt. 344, a half-mile west of Leetonia at 1:30 yesterday.

Groundbreaking Held for Nease Plant

Completion Date Set Jan. 1

Groundbreaking was held Friday for the construction of a plant here on the Benton Road by the Nease Chemical Co. Inc. of State College, Pa.

Construction will get underway immediately, with the completion date set for Jan. 1.

Bricker & Bricker Construction Co. is general contractor for the two-story building which will contain 15,000 square feet of space. Cost of construction and equipment will total $400,000.

THE PLANT, to be built on a 30-acre plot, will be of pink glazed brick and tile. It will employ about 30 persons when it begins operation.

Announcement that Nease Chemical Co. Inc. would construct a plant here was made July 20 by the Salem Area Industrial Development Corp.

The parent company, a rapidly growing nine-year-old firm which has operations or interests at five locations in four states, manufactures intermediate organic chemicals for the pharmaceutical industry, the plastics industry and chemical industries in general.

The firm is headed by Dr. Aubrey Nease of State College, who

THE SALEM PLANT will replace a company structure at Lock Haven, Pa., which must be vacated by next March 1 because of a lease expiration. Dr. Nease said the Salem plant will become the main production center for the company.

A few key personnel will be brought here from other plants, but most employees will be hired locally. Glass lined and stainless steel reactors and distillation equipment will be installed in the plant as

U.N. Days May Be Numbered

Khrushchev Repeats Threat to Pull Out

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — If Premier Khrushchev means what he says and is prepared for the risks involved in carrying out his threats, the days of the United Nations as an effective instrument of world peace are numbered.

Khrushchev seems to be seeking nothing less than a powerless palace of words—a sort of latter-day League of Nations and a true descendant of the organization which did itself to death a quarter century ago with an overdose of verbiage.

The U.N. has been an effective and hopeful organization, which has dramatically upheld peace on many an occasion. But if Khrushchev goes through with all he threatens, the U.N. will die a lingering death.

The Soviet leader's newest blasts are, in effect, as close as he could come without saying so to a declaration that the world Communist movement intends to continue messing in the internal affairs of weak or susceptible areas.

Khrushchev told the U.N. Correspondents Association Friday he would uphold Soviet interests by "relying on our own strength" outside the U.N., if he fails to get his way. Just what that means is not entirely clear, but it has the tone of threat.

At the same time, says Khrushchev, he will deliver a punch in the nose to anybody who questions what is going on in areas under his control.

He wants the U.N.'s peace-makers

Opens Crusade In New York

Billy Graham to Meet With Boy Gang Chiefs

NEW YORK (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham planned to carry his Spanish-American Crusade for Christ directly to the leaders of 49 youth gangs today.

Graham said he would meet with the youngsters in the hope that some will "dedicate themselves to Christ."

Many of the young gang leaders are Puerto Ricans.

Graham opened his crusade before 12,000 persons in Madison Square Garden Friday night by striking at "the philosophy of despair in Europe" which he said led movie actress Brigitte Bardot to attempt suicide.

"She had beauty, money, everything," he said. "Why did she do it? It was because of that philosophy which tells you the only hope is to die."

Graham, whose stern words were translated simultaneously into Spanish, also called on Soviet Premier Khrushchev to take a good look while he's here.

"This is the capital of capitals," the crusader said. "With 60 different nationalities represented, it is

4 Calls Answered By City Firemen

Firemen answered four calls Friday, including one which caused damage to a car owned by Ernest Earl of 585 Columbia St.

Chief Clarence Wright said the fire started when the car back-fired and ignited gasoline. No damage estimate was given but the loss is covered by insurance. The car was at 331 S. Broadway when the fire started.

Straw burning on the new lawn of the Christian Church at 1151 E. 6th St. was brought to the department's attention at 3:26 p.m. The fire was out when firemen arrived.

At 6:16 p.m., firemen were called to extinguish a fire in a dead tree at the corner of S. Lincoln Ave. and Summit St.

They were called again at 11:43 p.m. to W. State St. and Jennings where a city water department truck was involved in an accident. There was no fire.

Chief Wright reports that 66 establishments in the city have been checked this week for fire hazards. He said the safety checks will be continued.

Boy, 14, Admits Killing 3 Women

Hacked Relatives In Quest for Money

ASHLAND, Ala. (AP) — Raymond Eugene Brown, 14, was arrested at school Friday charged with the knife slaying of his aunt, grandmother and great grandmother.

Circuit Solicitor Frank Head said the motive was robbery. He said the boy admitted the slayings and would be charged with first degree murder.

The boy lived with his mother, father and two brothers about 12 yards from the rural house where the three bodies were found last Sunday.

The boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Brown, were hospitalized Friday night for treatment of shock.

Police refused to discuss evidence that led them to young Brown. Floyd Mann, state public safety director, said physical evidence found at the scene was linked with the boy in an FBI laboratory examination.

Head, Mann and Sheriff Paul G. Levie gave this account of the boy's oral statement to officers:

He planned last Saturday afternoon to go looking for money in the house where his grandmother, Ethel Ogle, 63, and his invalid great grandmother, Everlena Ogle, 82, lived.

He got out of bed about midnight, dressed and walked barefooted to the unlocked house next door.

Inside, in the darkness, he was surprised by Mrs. John D. Martin.

21 Candidates In Contests For Twelve Offices

State Representative, Sheriff Races Top Interest of Voters

With the Nov. 8 general election just a month from today, 21 candidates for 12 Columbiana County offices are preparing to throw their campaigns into high gear.

Although the Presidential election will overshadow local contests, most Courthouse offices are at stake. Columbiana County will elect two state representatives, two commissioners, sheriff recorder, probate judge, clerk of courts, prosecuting attorney, treasurer, engineer and coroner.

The opposing tickets were chosen by the two parties in the primary elections May 3. In most cases, the new office-holders elected next month will begin their terms Jan. 1.

The races for state representative, commissioner and sheriff probably will draw most interest. There are 10 Republican candidates and 11 Democrats on the county end of the ballot.

To Elect 2 Representatives
Because of periodic reapportionment which occurs about once in 10 years, Columbiana County will send two representatives to the General Assembly for the 1961-62 term.

The Republican candidates are Rep. Clarence L. (Dutch) Wezel of Lisbon, seeking a sixth term, and J. Warren Bettis of Salineville, assistant county prosecuting attorney.

The Democratic nominees are Benjamen Barret of Salem, a high school teacher and former football coach, and John H. Todd, former Lisbon mayor.

A field of 10 sought the representative nominations in the primaries—5 Republicans and 5 Democrats.

Two incumbent commissioners are seeking re-election on opposite tickets and each has a running mate for the second seat.

The GOP aspirants are Walter A. Hunston of East Palestine, the incumbent, and Galen H. Greenstein of Salem RD 3, who formerly served 8 years as a commissioner.

The Democratic nominees are R. Max Gard of near Lisbon, an incumbent, and Rudy Wilk of Wellsville, former owner of the Riverview Hotel.

Wilk has served 23 years on the Wellsville Civil Service Commission. Gard is an antique shop operator and historian. He is asking his first full term, as he now is serving in an unexpired term to which he was elected in 1958.

In the primary field for commissioner, Republicans had 9 candidates and Democrats had 7.

The hold-over member of the three-man board is Frank Wilson of Wellsville, Democrat. He is a market operator.

Sheriff Seeks Re-election
Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan, an East Palestine Republican, is bidding for his second term. He is opposed by Albert E. Kittridge, formerly an East Liverpool policeman for 14 years, now a safety engineer for a transportation insurance company. Van Fossan was chief deputy to Sheriff Howard J. Clark before assuming the office himself. Kittridge also was the Democratic nominee four years ago.

VanFossan was unopposed in the primary. Kittridge defeated a field of five.

Prosecuting Atty. G. William Brokaw of East Liverpool, a Republican, is seeking his second term. The Democratic candidate is Atty. Herbert E. Arfman of Leetonia, who practices law in Salem. Both were unopposed in the primaries.

Four more Democratic incumbents are seeking new terms: Prob-

Capitol Face Lifting Nearly Done---

The national Capitol is beginning to look like its old self again — only different — as bottom photo shows. Workmen are finishing up the extensive remodeling job on the east front which was undertaken early last year. Top photo shows the scene a few months ago. The old sandstone front was stripped away and rebuilt 32 feet farther out. This will provide 78,000 square feet of much needed office space, as well as improving the design balance of the building. Exterior work will be completed before the presidential inauguration in January but the interior will not be finished until the end of '61.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Mrs. Rhoda Hammett of Lisbon to Larry Haupt of Hanoverton.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of John Ketchum of Sebring, Fla., and the late Elsa Ketchum. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Haupt of Hanoverton.

Mrs. Hammett is employed by Purdy Dairy in Beloit, and her fiancé is employed by Summitville Tiles, Inc.

No date has been set for the wedding.

TO HEAR COMPLAINTS

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Judge P. P. Boli has agreed to hear suits next Monday in common pleas court from both sides in the Philip Carey Co. strike of United Auto Workers Union employees.

The company in its suit asked to have picketing limited and asserted strikers violated an earlier court order. The union also asked for a restraining order and said the company was inciting strikes.

Police arrested three persons Friday on assault charge and one on a charge of careless driving in earlier strike-based incidents. The walkout, over a contract, started Sept. 6.

Rev. James McCollan, pastor of the United Presbyterian Church at Salineville, spent Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Rena Welch of 679 Ohio Ave.

Musical, Devotional Program Is Held By Methodist WSCS

"Living Echoes" was the program topic presented at the October meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service when it convened Wednesday evening in the First Methodist Church.

The musical prelude was provided by Mrs. William Snowball, while members of the Jane Crooks Group extended hospitality. The pre-meeting prayer and meditation service in the chapel was led by Mrs. Frank Stoudt, with "Rest" as her theme.

Mrs. Homer Taylor presided at the meeting, with 38 in attendance. She quoted the Methodist bishop, Dr. James K. Mathews, provoking thoughts relating to Christian action.

The observance of the Week of Prayer and Self-Denial was stressed, and a "quiet day" program was planned.

In compliance with the request for crib and cot sheets in the supply work, Mrs. Effie Broomall sought volunteers for the making of these items from materials furnished by the Society.

Mrs. A. W. Kiliman read the rules by which the women of Southern Rhodesia must abide in order to remain a member of that WSCS.

Mrs. David Gardner was program chairman and led devotionals which included group singing, scripture reading, and meditation on "The Word of Law in our Midst."

In arranging the worship center, Mrs. James Cunningham symbolized the laws of love and purity by the use of white candles and red geraniums.

In opening the program, Mrs. Kiliman issued a challenge to members to echo Christian love in all dealings with their fellowman, and to promote goodwill, sympathy and tolerance. A screen of white with visible reminders of problems such as prejudice, unpoverty served to shade those whose voices echoed the living proof of those miseries. Those taking part were Mrs. James Phillips, Mrs. Richard Purrington, Mrs. George Bergman and Mrs. Val Galletti.

Members of the Wesleyan Service guild served refreshments from a table laid with a rustic-colored cloth, centered with an arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums and greenery, flanked by brown candles and holders.

The next meeting is Nov. 2 at 1:30 p.m. Mrs. Stoudt is program chairman and her topic is "Into All the World Together."

Commercial Travelers Plan For Fish Fry

Salem Council, United Commercial Travelers of America, will hold a fish fry sports party for members and friends Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. in the American Legion Hall.

E. W. Kossow of Toledo, UCT public relations representative for Ohio, will be guest speaker. A movie on the Cleveland Browns

Highlights of 1959 will be shown following the dinner and short meeting.

Reservations may be made until Monday noon with William M. Schaeffer, who is in charge of dinner arrangements or with Ray Reich, council secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wight of E. 3rd St. and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sneddon of Washingtonville have returned home from a vacation at Indian Rock Beach, Fla.

The Ladies Are Campaigning

There are times in this campaign when a spectator wishes the referee would call time out to count the Kennedy players on the field. Vice presidential candidate Henry Cabot Lodge is being represented by his lady on the distaff side. She campaigns with him not for him.

Presidential candidate Richard Nixon is being helped by his lady. She is making not only appearances but speeches. Our favorite picture of her is in an outdoor scene in the New York borough of Queens, head tilted back while she addresses a street crowd. Behind her is Mrs. Nelson A. Rockefeller, wife of the governor of New York. Mrs. Rockefeller's husband isn't running for anything this year.

On the Democratic side, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson is being helped in his vice presidential campaign by his charming ladybird, which her admirers insist makes him the equivalent of three candidates as far as winsomeness is concerned.

So far, this follows the rule that every politician is entitled to all the help he can get from the lady he married when the time comes to win friends and influence voters. But in the case of presidential candidate Kennedy the rule has been laid aside.

The candidate's mother is stumping for him in the eastern neck of the woods.

It is hard to know just how many more charming ladies are to be found at any given moment on Kennedy stumps in other parts of the woods, but there are days when it appears as if the entire team must be in the field whooping it up for their favorite. Besides his sisters there are his sisters-in-law—a baker's half dozen of vivacious, dynamic, tireless ladies for Jack Kennedy. And Jackie Kennedy, as everyone knows, is very much in the campaign, too.

This is a matter of no small consequence. It was Ambassador Lodge, no other, who said when he lost out to Jack Kennedy for the Senate in Massachusetts in 1952 that he was beaten by his opponent's helpers' tea parties. The ambassador wasn't fooling. Boston tea parties a la Kennedy have become a political gimmick more powerful than the two-for-a-nickel cigar was a generation ago.

The next time Congress squares away for another one of its ridiculous fair trade laws in politics, it may have to proscribe the use of more than one tea pourer at a time by male political candidates. The Kennedys have packed the deck.

When Mussolini Made His Move

The strangest thing about Italy's sneak invasion of Ethiopia 25 years ago was the Italian argument in the League of Nations. The League foundered on its failure to protect Ethiopia. The United Nations could have foundered on failure to protect the republic of Congo. It can founder at any time on failure to carry out its obligation to intercede between marauders and their victims—even if the victims are despised by those hopeful of trampling them into submission.

The League of Nations did not founder because of a collective decision to terminate its existence. It foundered because Britain walked out on it at a critical moment and because the United States never had joined it.

Mussolini calculated shrewdly that he would be dealing with a cardboard opponent in Geneva and unarmed natives in Ethiopia. He was right on both counts. He had calculated the weakness of both opponents accurately.

What he failed to calculate, because it would have meant an appraisal of his own character, was the revulsion of sentiment his adventure would cause in the world. From that moment on, no one ever was heard to say again that Mussolini had been good for Italy; that he had made the trains run on time.

He had violated whatever decency is possessed in common by men of all nations and stations. He had jumped on a cripple with hobnailed boots. He had used bombs, planes, artillery, machineguns and tanks against helpless tribesmen. He had accused them, moreover, of plotting to attack their attackers.

It was a kind of obscenity committed against the human race that confirmed what skeptics had been saying about him—an obscenity that was to be reciprocated years later when his own people hung him by his heels alongside the half-clothed body of his mistress.

There was to be nothing glorious ever again about taking advantage of defenseless people, not even "savages." Mussolini ended the era in which heroes bore the white man's burden east of Suez. When a pygmy went through the motions, the act was reduced to absurdity and indecency.

Airplanes Will Always Fall

It will be a tragedy if a new series of plane crashes shakes public confidence in commercial aviation, as it did in 1959.

It will be a tragedy within a tragedy if the manufacturer of one kind of commercial plane again must bear the brunt of spectacular accidents, which was the case last year.

Airplanes will always fall. There is nothing else they can do when flaws in their construction or in their operation cause accidents. This is the unique problem of the aviation industry.

The automobile industry is the prime source of accidents in the modern world. Some safety engineers contend that many of the fatal and crippling accidents charged to reckless driving should be charged to the faulty construction of motor vehicles. But auto accidents occur on the ground. There is not the ultimate disaster of a plunge earthward from the air.

Marine accidents, such as the disaster that befell the great ship Titanic, are worse than land accidents, though not as bad as aviation accidents, though not as bad as aviation mistakes and operators blunder, there is the danger of drowning. But drowning people have a chance to save themselves. They can be given a chance with lifeboats, life rafts, life preservers and their own ability to stay afloat in the water.

Only in aviation accidents is there the ultimate disaster—the plunge out of the air to the earth or to water. The Boston disaster—involving a make of plane that has been plagued with accidents—was a plunge to water.

Airplanes are the safest way to cover distance. If a person must travel a million miles in a 70-year lifetime, he should do it by plane. But if the idea is to minimize the risk of being killed in a 70-year lifetime, the best idea would be to limit traveling to a minimum, especially in airplanes. There's always that plunge if something goes wrong.

When everybody tries to solve everybody else's problems there are a lot of wrong answers.

Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Mulling over the matter for several days, we think two questions raised by Mrs. Virginia McCleary's apple pie, which caused a bomb scare around Park Ave. quarters of Nikita Khrushchev, are these:

1. Will it set back apple pie baking or boost it as the pie that can keep Nikita off balconies?

2. Will it add to the apathy of Americans by leading them to think that, while Khrushchev threatens to unleash rockets at us, we can be satisfied by unleashing pastry at him?

We talked to numerous housewives, most of whom criticized Mrs. McCleary for sending an apple pie when raspberry was clearly called for. All admitted that any homemade pie could be deadly, all depending on the cook.

"I made my first apple pie today," said a candid beginner, "and it is so potentially dangerous that I am sending it to Castro, with a simple note, 'Lay off our Guantanamo Naval base, or you'll get my first attempt at lemon-chiffon.'"

Anyhow Mrs. McCleary's pie is the Pie of the Year, putting it smack into the U. N. rodeo, attaining world publicity and being the only pie ever to win a place in international relations. (No other pie can make that statement.)

This bit of home cooking brought out the Bomb Squad, special bomb-hauling vehicles, fluoroscopes and a trip to the underground regions of Fort Totten. Justifiably so.

The pie did not tick but it came in a suspicious package. America got a break through fact, Khrushchev didn't get the package, open it and stage a balcony vaudeville act, 'Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Pie,' or 'Home-Cooking and World Peace.'

THE COLD WAR is so icy that the United Nations can hang out the red ball to denote good skating.

It's a strange switch when a World Series produces fewer fights, disputes and beer can tossings than the United Nations meeting.

General Electric strike has alarmed a neighbor so much he has put in a supply of bulbs and started hoarding electric iceboxes.

Big question about the election campaign is whether speeches can sufficiently confuse the voters by November.

The United Nation's big task is how to close the circus and disband the sideshow freaks.

Nine New York firemen have been suspended for working on outside jobs after duty. All were working as chauffeurs or plant helpers in a brewery. It seems to us that a fireman might be a little slow going up a ladder after a day on a beer truck. And that after a night with a fire ax he might be no bargain in making a beer delivery.

The Hydro Power Issue

By RAYMOND MOLEY

In his prepared statement in the first debate, Sen. Kennedy said:

"At the present rate of hydro power development—and that is the hallmark of an industrialized society—the Soviet Union by 1975 will be producing more power than we are."

This is not only inaccurate but also a very tricky statement.

Nixon challenged it in Schenectady but Kennedy then repeated it, saying it came from "a Senate committee report."

Kennedy is either persisting in his inaccuracy or is misguided. Here are the facts:

Except for a very few industries, electric power is not an important element in manufacturing costs. It is not "the hallmark" of an industrialized society.

KENNEDY'S SENTENCE begins with a comparison of hydro power but ends with the flat assertion that in 1975 the Soviet Union will be producing more power than the United States.

That would mean all electric power—hydro, steam and nuclear. Even the committee report cited by Kennedy made no such claim, although it was frankly partisan.

As to the relative proportions of power produced by steam and hydro, it agreed with the exhaustive study of the Edison Electric Institute.

The cited report was made by a Senate subcommittee composed of three Democrats—Moss of Utah, Gruening of Alaska and Muskie of Maine.

They conducted a grand junket to the Soviet Union, and on their return prepared the report (Committee Print, Jan. 4, 1960). There was also a motion picture film with Moss as narrator.

In both Russia and the United States, about 81 per cent of all electric power is derived from steam produced by coal, only 19 per cent from hydro power.

The Soviet Union plans to lower its hydro power to 15 per cent, raising steam to 85 per cent. This is because with the present efficiency of steam the Russians can add to that, rather than bear the great expense of building dams in remote places, with transmission lines to carry power to localities where it can be used.

In round figures, Russia had a productive capacity at the end of 1958 of 53 million kilowatts; the United States, 160 million. By 1965 the Russians will have 108 million kilowatts; the United States, 245 million.

Projecting the comparisons into the 1970s, the lead of the United States will be relatively the same in 1965.

But by the 1970s, atomic power will be comparable in cost to steam and in both the United States and Russia hydro power will fall into relative insignificance.

The United States, however, is already far ahead of the Russians in developing atomic power, and construction under way and planned will keep it ahead indefinitely.

THE SENATE subcommittee was accompanied on its trip by representatives of certain organizations dedicated to the promotion of government hydro power projects.

Apparently, one of the purposes of this expensive propaganda was to promote the authorization by Congress of the Rampart Dam in the Yukon River in Alaska. Hence, Sen. Gruening was prominently displayed in the movie, and there were shots of the massive and lonely Yukon.

That project, which might be on the agenda of the Kennedy "New Frontier," would, if built, generate twice the power of Grand Coulee and top anything in Russia. But what would be done with a kilowatt capacity which would supply seven million people in a state with 167,000?

The claim is that it would attract industry. But it has been shown over and over that, except for aluminum, power cost is a minor consideration in attracting industry. And, of course, industry must be attracted from somewhere if it is to settle in Alaska.

Meanwhile, the development of cheaper methods of making electricity from the atom is moving fast.

Wadsworth Performing Effectively In U.N.

A mildly bizarre feature of the diplomatic hippodrome now going on in the United Nations is the emergence of James J. Wadsworth as immeasurably the most effective American performer in the history of that body.

Not that Wadsworth has accomplished this eminence by measuring speeches against Khrushchev, Castro and others, by hands of the clock. Wadsworth's success, rather, has been beating potential rivals to the podium and there delivering some of the shortest and most succinct speeches the U.N. has known.

The classic in that line was delivered by Wadsworth last Saturday when, replying to one of Khrushchev's longest and most violent anti-American assaults, he began by deploring the necessity for immediate reply for fear "I too would be intemperate," and concluded a 4-minute address with this paragraph:

"There is more freedom, there is more opportunity, there is more well-being for every American—I say every American, regardless of race, color or creed—than there is in any Communist country. Anybody who nows America knows this is so."

Wadsworth is the present U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, so selected by Henry Cabot Lodge who for 7½ years was the occupant of that post and is now Republican nominee for vice president.

CONSIDER the background of Wadsworth. In ancestry he is impeccable. His grandfather on his mother's side was John Hay, born modestly in Salem, Ind., but ranging in career from private secretary to President Abraham Lincoln (1860-65) to secretary of state under two presidents, William McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt (1898-1905).

The pinnacle of Hay's service was his denunciation in 1903 of the policy of "open door" for China—meaning an effort to persuade foreign powers, especially Great Britain, Germany, Russia and Japan, to lay off their competitive seeking for trade advantages in China in return for a promise of free trade for everybody.

The paternal grandfather of the present U.N. ambassador was James Wolcott Wadsworth, a U.S. Civil War captain on the staff of Gen. C. K. Warren, and subsequently congressman from New York for 20 years—1881-85 and 1891-1907.

Father of the present U.N. ambassador was James Wadsworth Jr., who entered the U.S. Senate in 1915, aged 38, and held that seat until 1927.

The prime distinction of the latter, however, was that after he was knocked off for senator by Robert F. Wagner, due to a split of the Republican party over prohibition, he came back as member of the House of Representatives for 18 years (1933-51).

AS OFTEN HAPPENS, the present Wadsworth started off under the shadow of his distinguished ancestors. True, he followed his Wadsworth father and grandfather into the N.Y. Legislature, aged 26, and held that seat for 10 years.

After a spell in private life as industrial relations manager for the Curtiss-Wright Corp. he went to Washington late in World War II with a minor job under President Truman. He remained in similar posts until President Eisenhower took over.

On the recommendation of Lodge, he was appointed first assistant U.S. representative of the U.N.

After sitting for six years at Lodge's elbow at U.N. headquarters, he has been occupied mainly as chief U.S. delegate in the three-power (U.S., Russian, British) atomic negotiation at Geneva.

In all his international capacities, Wadsworth has been enormously popular personally. Especially on social evenings he has become a great favorite, due to his capacity for singing delightful ditties to his own guitar accompaniment.

But it is true, also, that wherever he has served officially he has done his jobs well, up to the limits of the authority vested in him.

Wadsworth's big chance now lies in the fact that it is his special business to answer foreign blasphemers right off the cuff, with no chance for advance preparation and no time in which to ask higher-ups what he should say.

You and the TV Scandals

By WARD CANNEL

A year has passed since the TV quiz and payola scandals opened the public eye to a big price for free television. In that year, payola has become a federal offense, most of the quiz shows are gone and more unsponsored public service shows than ever have been programmed.

But most of the nation has not been allowed to see these public service programs, according to the Federal Communications Commission. This pinpoints the real problem of free TV: local, affiliated stations who distribute television fare to the U.S.

According to the FCC, legislation and pressure on the network headquarters have had very little effect on local stations. They are still under no obligation to carry every network show. Public service, unsponsored shows have a hard time breaking through—and with good reason.

THERE'S TOO MUCH money to be made by blocking out the public service show in favor of a sponsored Western or an old movie larded out with spo: commercials. The real pressure on network affiliates, the FCC explains, is against public service. To wit:

1. If you're one of two TV stations in a fat market, all three networks will come after you, will pay the costs of transmitting programs to you, will give you about $300 of each $1,000 the sponsor pays for our market.

2. If you work it right, you can make a deal with two of the three networks and lay out only the money it takes to keep your equipment in repair, hire the necessary engineers, lawyers and announcers. Good contracts and electronic devices can keep you away from public service shows and on the gray train seven days a week.

3. To ice the cake, you don't have to worry about a new station opening up to compete. The mistake of assigning a narrow band of frequencies to TV was made a long time ago. There's just no more room on that band for more channels as things stand now.

If your station is in a smaller market, the FCC says, the same pressures against public service exist—only more urgently. You may be affiliated, but the networks and national advertisers don't come to you. The best you can hope for is about $100 per network hour—hardly enough to delay the cost to you of station maintenance, personnel. Besides, in some instances, you pay the transmission cost.

TO MAKE ENDS MEET, you have to get out and hustle local sponsors and spots from national advertisers. You're certainly not going to waste valuable air time with unsponsored shows.

Do you have any responsibility to the public for using its airwaves?

Yes indeed. In addition to technical and personnel requirements, the law demands that you tell the FCC how much time you're going to allot to public service programs. Under these conditions, you get a three-year license, subject either to renewal or revocation.

Unfortunately, the FCC is not wealthy enough or strong enough or eager to patrol all the nation's channels. The burden of living up to public responsibility, therefore, falls on the shoulders of local station owners.

And in all the years of TV, the FCC has not revoked one license. That's a testament to something.

Matter of Fact

Cheating at cards is an old, old habit. Elizabethan card players finally stopped the worst shenanigans by insisting that every player keep all cards in open sight, "above the board." And to the present day, anything aboveboard is honest, unrigged, and free from deceit.

We Salute SALEM'S JUNIOR BASEBALL PROGRAM

. . . THIS PROGRAM IS A PROJECT OF THE AMERICAN LEGION

CHARLES H. CAREY POST No. 56

This special section of today's Salem News is devoted entirely to all phases of Salem's popular Junior Baseball Program. The News' Sports Department, in developing this section, has a two-fold purpose in mind: (1) To acquaint local fans with the rules, background and organization of Salem's Hot Stove League Program, and (2) to pay tribute to the American Legion, backers of the rapidly expanding project, the progressive merchants, manufacturing plants and local unions which sponsor the program and the industrious adults, who, voluntarily and unselfishly, make the program possible. It is all these people working together who are making a wholesome contribution to our youth. Today we honor them!

625 Took Part In Hot Stove League Baseball Program

'60 Season Proved Success Again

Salem's Junior Baseball League, if not a success for any other reason, certainly accomplished much in that it kept young active minds busy throughout the summer.

Figures on registration released by John Herman Jr., league president, shows that upwards of 625 participated in the baseball program in 1960.

These were 625 boys not available for getting into mischief, and not available for idling away hours dreaming of less productive pursuits. On the other hand the leagues did provide a type of discipline which is bound to show up in later life. It was not a type forced on the boys - because they could quit at will - but rather a type of order that the voluntarily accepted and adhered to.

Although it is true that the discipline they accepted was probably because it resulted in fun and pleasure, it is also true that they conformed.

In addition to this beneficial phase of the program, the boys were also offered the opportunity to exercise fair play and to learn the true meaning of sportsmanship.

Last but not least, the program was physical exercise which, according to reports from the various departments of public health, is a sorely needed element in American youth.

A breakdown of the various classes in the program shows the following participation: Class C, 20 players; Class D, 16 players; Class E, 90 players; Class F, 120 players; Class G, 120 players; and Class H, 120 players.

In the beginners groups there were 33 players in Class G and 106 in Class H.

Class G League's Big Gun: Chappell

Tod Chappell of Scott's Sports led the Class G League in batting this season.

Chappell rapped the ball at a .564 clip, pounding out 30 hits in 54 trips to the plate.

Roberts of Italian Club was close behind with 24 hits in 45 at bats for a .533 mark. Bob Wagner of National Cleaners, Billy Rist of Eagles and Rusty Hackett of Scott's Sports also batted over .500.

Top pitcher in the league was Rod Bentley of the Fire Department who dropped only one decision in 13 outings for a .923 average. Dave Mowery of K of C was 5-1 and John Tolson of Scott's had an 8-2 mark.

The top 10 hitters in the league were as follows:

Utah, VMI Win Contests

Georgia Defeated 10-3 By Southern California

By BOB MYERS Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP) — The harassed Trojans of Southern California found a ray of sunshine today. They've snapped a back to the final two games of 1959, and they've come up with a brilliant quarterback.

Favored Georgia's aerial attack backfired in the second half Friday night, leading to a winning touchdown by Southern Cal and a final score of 10-3.

In other Friday night games, Utah defeated Brigham Young 17-0, Virginia Military Institute won from George Washington 34-10, and Detroit blanked Cincinnati 14-0.

Southern California hardly went on a scoring spree, and its touchdown was only its second in four games this autumn.

The game developed into a quarterback duel between Georgia's great passer, Francis Tarkenton, and Troy's unheralded sophomore, Bill Nelsen.

Nelsen, 6 feet and 190 pounds, was the clutch player. In the clinching 33-yard winning series he carried for four yards and a first down, for 10 and a first down and for one yard and the touchdown.

Tarkenton completed 14 out of 25 passes for 168 yards. But four of his throws were intercepted, all at costly moments.

Southern Cal led off with a 31-yard field goal by Don Zachik in the first quarter. The Bulldogs tied it in the second on a 42-yard field goal by Durward Pennington.

Late in the third, Trojan center Dave Morgan intercepted a Tarkenton pass. He returned it 19 to the Bulldog 33, and the winning score ensued.

Syracuse and Mississippi, ranked 1-2 in the weekly Associated Press poll, have breathers in Saturday's games.

The Orange takes on two-time loser Holy Cross while Ole Miss meets Vanderbilt in a Southeastern Conference game.

There also is going to be some reshuffling in the Big 10, a league which boasts seven undefeated undefeated teams.

The big battle, will pit Illinois (No. 4) against Ohio State (No. 5). Another pair of undefeateds, Iowa (No. 3) and Michigan State also go at it.

Purdue (No. 7) is the favorite against Wisconsin and Minnesota, also unscathed, is paired with Northwestern.

There also are two other games involving unbeaten. The Air Force Academy gets its first big test against Missouri and Arkansas (No. 9) plays Baylor in a Southwest Conference game of unbeaten.

Navy (No. 6) is at the Oyster Bowl in Norfolk, Va., against Southern Methodist, while Clemson (No. 8) should have no trouble with Virginia, holder of a 20-game losing streak.

Kansas (No. 10) is involved in an important Big 8 game against Iowa State.

The TV game of the week (ABC-TV) sends Stanford against Washington. Seven hours earlier, so as not to conflict with the World Series, Miami (Fla.) and Pitt meet.

Army, perhaps the class of the East, has a date with Penn State, while Oklahoma and Texas play in Dallas' Cotton Bowl. Louisiana State tackles Georgia Tech in a Southeastern Conference game and in intersectional action, it is Notre Dame at North Carolina. Rice at Florida, Duke at Michigan and Oregon State at Indiana.

KART DERBY AT MANSFIELD

Mansfield's Dart Kart Speedway will be the scene of the official Grand Prix Kart Club of America Fall National championship on Oct. 14, 15 and 16. Nearly 300 entrants are expected.

TENNIS STAR—Neale Fraser, who holds most of the world men's singles titles, is among the top players with which Australia hopes to retain the Davis Cup.

Many Hands, Heads Helped Baseball Program In City

The people behind the people who were physically involved in Salem Junior League Baseball this summer were numerous and contributed much to the promotion and development of the Leagues here.

Headed by John Herman Jr., president, this company of persons was responsible for publicity, money, records and handling the unusual problems which often time occur in an operation as large as Salem Junior Baseball.

Those responsible for making the Leagues go were Robert Whitehill, treasurer; Glenn Whitehill, executive secretary; Guy Mauro, legal advisor; commissioners, Francis Taubler, state, Charles Mattevi, Class G, Ford Joseph, Class F, Clarence Walker, Class H, and Albert Catlos, Class E.

Others instrumental in the Leagues were Mrs. Ted Beery, historian, and the board of directors composed of George Perrault, George Daily, Reynaldo Oriole, C. F. Tomlinson, Wesley Houser, Cornelius Csepke, Martin Lutsch, Ed Blackburn, and Archie Bricker.

Head scorekeeper in the Leagues was S. E. Ekay. Don Abrams was head umpire.

Authority of the Leagues is provided for in the League Constitution which states, "Government shall be under the direct supervision of the officers, Board of Directors, and the executive committee of the managing personnel."

The executive committee referred to includes managers of each team in each class, umpires, general managers of each class and commissioners.

The board of directors is composed of seven persons appointed by the president.

The commissioner of each league is appointed by the president with the approval of the governing body. One of the commissioners is named chairman of the Board of Commissioners.

The commissioners are the real overseers of the baseball leagues,

Men Behind Scene Deserve Credit

The Junior Baseball League did not operate without direction and the almost complete control so evident throughout the season is much to the credit of the various managers and team officials.

In managers and coaches alone, the summer program required the loyalty, consistency and the efforts of some 31 area men.

The exact number of hours turned in by these men certainly is considerable, especially when considering the other things men with families and jobs are required to do.

Included in the ranks of managers last summer were the following:

Class E — John Canfield, 165 Rose Ave., of the Youngstown Kitchens; Robert Jeffries, 867 E. 4th St., Bliss Company; Fred Wilson of 1405 N. Ellsworth Ave., of Eljer Company; and Pete Sanders, Box 122, Salem, of the Deming Company. Robert Smith of the Damascus Merchants; and Phillip Coseno of Leetonia.

Class F — Ted Beery of 1836 E. 3rd St., of the Farmers Bank; Richard Saunders, 650 Fair St., and Lester Marshall, 1690 N. Ellsworth Ave., of the Sekely Tool and Die; Ralph Mancuso, 1250 E. 10th St., Fisher's News; Jack Hickling, 953 Homewood ave., Salem Stamp; Joe Wukotich Jr., 895 Arch St., Electric Furnace; William Galchick, 859 Granite St., Elks; Harry D. Paxson of Duck Creek Rd., Eljer, and Burton Sutter, 1266 E. Pershing St., Youngstown Kitchens.

Class G — Gus Paparodis, 651 Woodland Ave., Italian Club; Andy Kekel, 1761 N. Ellsworth Ave., Petrucci's; Isaac Kidder, Lisbon Rd., National Cleaners; Arthur Voaw, 1959 E. 6th St., and Martin Catlos, 2050 E. Pershing St., Fire Department; Richard Lantz, 1082 N. Ellsworth Ave., Knights of Columbus; Richard Smith, 1070 W. Perry St., Eagles; Leslie Brantingham, 369 Rea Dr., Scott's Sports; Steve Karnofel of Franklin Rd., Bricker and Clifford Allison, 442 Woodland ave., Hunt's Union.

Class H — Charles Ivan, 284 E. 4th St., Kresge; Thomas Stoffer of Stewart Rd., Jaycees; Steve Kupka, 1021 E. 3rd St., Home Furniture; Ray Wright, 518 Woodland Ave., Stark's Colonial; Dave Kachner, 241 W. Pershing St., Hobbycraft; John McQuiston, 653 Franklin Ave., Select Dairies; Fred Harshman, 822 Aetna St., Merchants' Vending, and Kermit Riffle of Pine Lake Rd., Dairy Isle.

Class D — John Dermotta of RD 1, Benton Rd., American Legion.

Class C — Thomas Furlong, RD 1, Salem, Salem Merchants.

The head linesman is stationed off to one side on the line of scrimmage.

He watches for offside, checks the legality of formations, keeps count of downs and marks the progress of the ball.

His toughest ruling is on offside plays. In many cases, both teams will break and its up to him to decide which one got too eager first. You have to give each team a fair break on this and a good head linesman develops more or less of "feel" for ruling properly. This comes with experience.

The head linesman checks players on either side of the center before the ball is snapped to make sure they are on or behind the line of scrimmage.

When the ball is declared dead the head linesman should stand on the scrimmage line and signify the number of downs to the referee.

Sarah Hanna rolled a sizzling 233 game in a 545 series to pace all bowlers in the Ladies' Buckeye League at Timberlakes Friday.

Other high single games were turned in by Katie Hahn, 211; Wanda Wilson, 207; Lois Longenecher, 206; Ada Hanna, 198; Ruth May, 194; and Margie Stewart, 191.

Trailing Sarah Hanna for high series honors were Lois Longenecher, 545; Katie Hahn, 544; Wanda Wilson, 531; Ruth May, 509 and Ada Hanna, 505.

Endres & Gross took team series with a 2465. Select Dairy had a 2447 series with an 860 single game.

In the Men's Pastime League yesterday, Russ Stallsmith continued his hot streak, rolling a 549-209. Bob Briggs had a 205 single game. Other high series

Umps Deserve Pat On Back For Job In Little League

It required a battery of 30 umpires to make certain the Salem Junior Baseball League's season didn't erupt into something resembling the Conzo this summer.

Although they were paid for their efforts, it's common knowledge that an umpire's job is not a bed of roses. And dealing with some of these youngsters - who obviously must outwit even their own parents - can at times become hectic.

For example: How does an umpire deal with a child who has had his own way for the first 10 years of his life?

Occasionally, the parents are even worse than the kids, and umpires, as well as managers, will swear by this statement.

Heading the Umpire Association this year were Don Abram, president; Bob Conroy, secretary-treasurer; and Dick Beall, Kenny Beall, Dave Kachner and Torch Nedelka, directors.

The umpires who worked this summer's games are:

Class C and D - Al Catlos, Tom Nedelka, Torch Nedelka, Paul Beery, John Canfield, Don Abram, Dave Kachner and Andy Saper.

League President Expresses Appreciation of Public Support

This special edition in the Salem News, which has been made possible by our sponsors and the Salem News staff, officially rings the 1960 Junior Baseball season to a close.

This year has been a very successful one. Of the 12 years that the Salem Junior Baseball Leagues have been operating, this year has been the most outstanding. This could not have been possible without the help of the fine league officials, coaches, managers and

Kenst, Polder Hit Well in Class H

Hobbycraft didn't finish too high up in the Class H standings this season but it did have the two leading hitters in the league.

K. Kenst led the way with a .630 mark while teammate G. Polder was a distant second with a .560 average. Six of the top 110 hitters in the league performed for Manager Charles Ivan's champion Kresge team.

Walt Simson of unbeaten Kresge was easily the top pitcher in Class H. He won 12 games and suffered no setbacks.

The top 10 batters in the league were as follows:

North Canton Rolls Over Louisville 27-8

Quarterback Dick Snyder tallied three touchdowns and tossed for another as North Canton turned back an invading Louisville team 27-8 Friday night.

Snyder plunged over from the one in the first period, and sprinted seven yards in the second for another score. He also tallied the two extra points on a run following his second TD.

The tricky quarterback sneaked over from the one in the third, then kicked the extra point. He climaxed his scoring efforts in the final stanza when he passed to Anderson for the TD.

Louisville's tally came in the fourth stanza when Fullback Oliver Roberts bulled over from two yards out. Left halfback Bob Bardash scored the extra points on a run.

North Canton amassed a total of 310 yards during the fray, compared to 155 by Louisville. North Canton racked up 14 first downs to six for the losers.

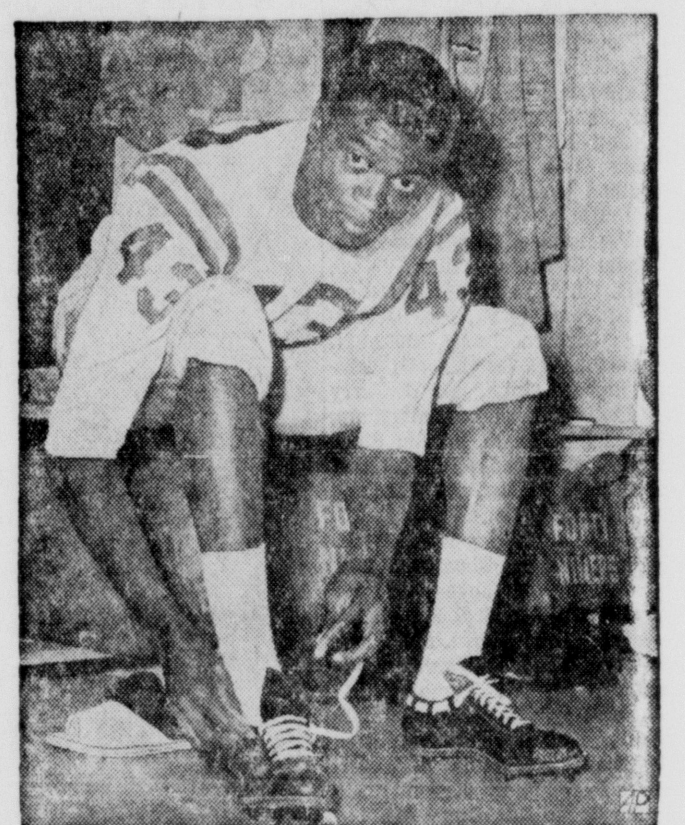

Louisville's season record is now 2-2. It is 2-0 in Tri-County League play.

Its next contest will be Saturday at Poland in another loop contest.

The purpose and objective of the Leagues as cited in Article II of its constitution is to "seek to implant in the youth of the community ideals of good sportsmanship, honesty, loyalty, courage and reverence; so they may be finer, stronger and happier youths who grow up to be good clean, healthy adults."

The same article takes to task the "Win, come what may" attitude so often found elsewhere. It states, "The supervisors shall bear in mind at all times that the attainment of exceptional athletic skill or the winning of games is secondary, and that the molding of future citizens is of prime importance."

Admission to the Leagues for any boy is almost as simple as showing up.

THE REQUIREMENTS ARE that the boy must have the approval of the league officials, signed by both of his parents or by his guardian, and must be in physical shape comparable to that required for him to participate in school activities. He also must either live in the Salem School District or have a Salem or Salem rural mailing address.

The only out and out effort a boy must make to participate in the program is to sell two adult booster memberships in the League. In most cases this means the boy must have parents.

To insure the safety of the boys the Leagues are covered with an accident insurance policy from April 1 through Sept. 15, as ordered by the constitution.

Along with this rule is another which states all boys must wear the safety equipment provided, including protective helmets.

THE SAME constitution provides for expulsion of players not following the constitution rules. The procedure for expulsion is clearly outlined in Article VII which states, "The officers and executive committee shall have the authority to suspend, discharge or otherwise discipline any member, manager, coach, player or umpire whose conduct is considered as detrimental to the best interest of the Salem Junior Baseball League."

In the case of the boy up for disciplinary action, his manager and he will be notified within 24 hours of the rule violation to appear before the three members of the executive committee. The appearance must be made within three days.

This type of constitutional action not only makes the youth aware of his responsibilities but also assures that no "overbearing" youth will dominate League activities.

3 Shared Batting Honors In Class F

The top three batters in the Class F League this season were all members of the champion Farmers Bank team.

Slugging George Begalla got off to an early start with some fine sticking and set the batting pace throughout the season. He wound up with best average in any of the Hot Stove Leagues this year—a lusty .636.

Following Begalla were Bink Washington, .565; and Dyer Scott, .555. Washington and Jan Steele each had six victories and no defeats to take top honors in the pitching department.

The 10 top batters in the loop this season were as follows:

CLASS F
Player, Team		Avg.
G. Begalla, Farmers		.636
B. Washington, Farmers		.565
D. Scott, Farmers		.555
J. Garrett, Stamping		.518

D. Julian, Elks		.380
D. Thomas, Fisher's		.375

Bill Beery Topped Class E Batting

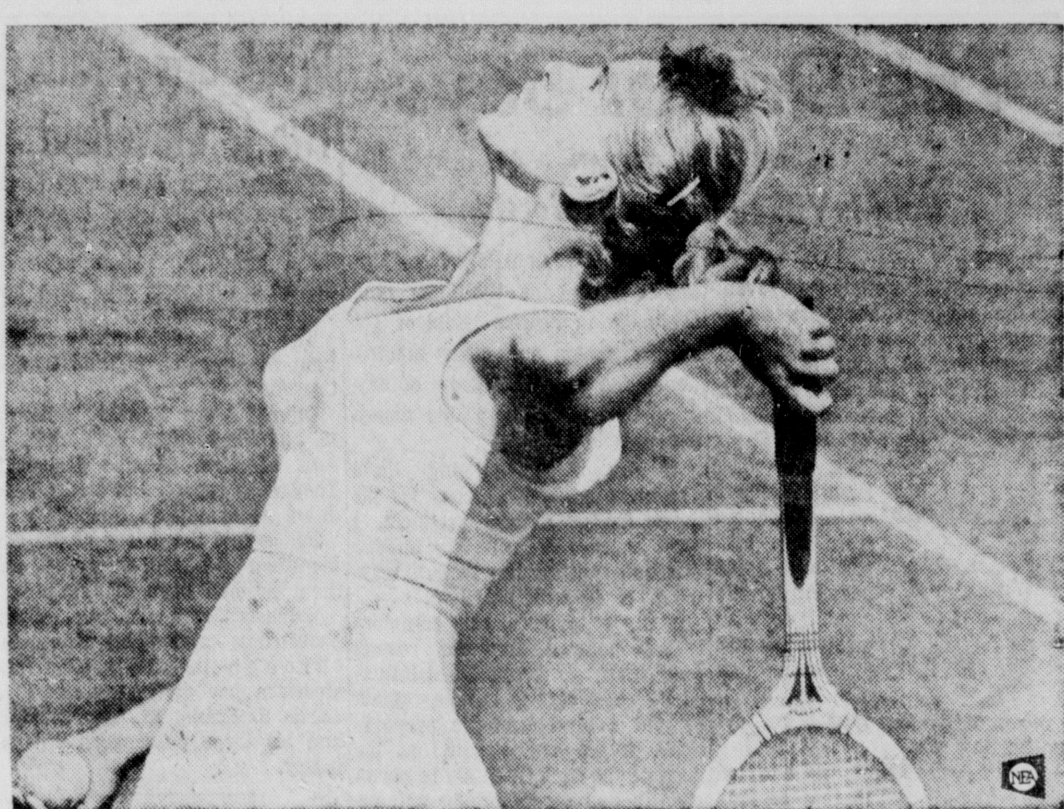

Bill Beery, talented catcher for the Bliss CIO team, led the Class E League in batting this season.

The all-around athlete, who is now playing quarterback for the Salem High Varsity football squad, slammed the baseball at a .539 clip. He had a decisive lead over runner-up Bob King of Deming CIO, who posted a .477 mark.

Tom Owens of Class E champion Deming CIO was the top pitcher in the loop with a record of seven wins and two losses.

A rundown of the 10 batters in the league are as follows:

CLASS E
Player, Team		Avg.
Bill Beery, Bliss		.539
Bob King, Deming		.477
Roger Ziegler, Eljer		.417

The Doctor Says

By Dr. H. T. HYMAN

Baby Is Villian In Staph Infection

Recently I referred to a carefully documented study that revealed the newborn infant as an innocent carrier of staph infections to members of the household.

Referring to this observation, a young mother reports that "our son was born on May 6 and came home from the hospital with a bad case of 'cradle cap.' It took almost a month to clear up and then he developed a boil over his left ear."

"At this same time, my husband also developed a boil that became abscessed and he had to have penicillin shots, sulfa tablets and codeine. He was in great pain for a week."

"Since he hadn't had a oil prior to this for 13 years, we wondered if our baby could be the 'villain'?" I'm afraid so, dear lady. And, inasmuch as your letter is dated little more than a month after the onset of your husband's infection, you may count yourselves fortunate if you've all fought off your unwelcome staph visitors without further damage.

A CORRESPONDENT from Minnesota complains that her nails are splitting despite trials of gelatin, vitamins and other medications. She asks if I know of anything that would help this annoying condition.

At risk of contradicting those who write advertising copy for the promotion of dietary products, I must express the minority opinion that nail splitting has little, if anything, to do with nutrition.

In my experience, this commonly encountered nuisance results from injury to the nail bed inflicted by chemicals in cuticle remover and related cosmetic preparations. If the bed, situated at the base of the nail (lunula), is permanently damaged, nothing will restore it to health.

If the damage is not too severe, the bed may recover if it is protected from further injury.

However, in neither instance will ingestion of dietary products have any effect on the outcome.

"Can the habitual swallowing of chewing gum have any harmful effects on a young child?" asks an anxious mother from Florida.

No. Unless the youngster swallows an enormous wad that's sufficiently large to obstruct the intestine.

Drunk Driver Kills Two In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two pedestrians were killed and two others injured Friday night when hit by an automobile. Police said the driver of the car, who was held without charge, was intoxicated. The dead were identified as William Bloxson Jr., 12, and Charles Crawford, 61.

Injured were Ronald Rahamig, 12, and his brother, Frederick, 11, sons of Mrs. Maxine Rahamig. They were reported in critical condition at St. Alexis Hospital.

Police said the driver of the car, identified as Lee C. Curry, 29, told them he had been drinking.

Witnesses said the car hit the pedestrians and then continued through the intersection and struck a car driven by the Rev. Curtis S. Steele, 55. The minister and his three passengers escaped injury.

E. Liverpool Woman Sues as Result of Crash

LISBON—A suit for $50,000 for personal injuries stemming from an auto accident on a county road near East Liverpool was filed in Common Pleas Court Friday by Edna Heverly of East Liverpool.

C. E. McElwee of East Liverpool RD 2, was named the defendant. Mrs. Heverly claims she was riding in a car driven by her husband, Thomas Heverly, Aug. 14 when the defendant crossed the center line, striking their car and causing her to sustain head injuries.

Confident Living

By Dr. NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Learn How to Pray

On March 12, 1960, a woman who for many years has been a member of my church, the Marble Collegiate Church of New York, sat down and wrote me an extremely interesting letter. After first remarking appreciatively what a wonderful peace she had experienced during the service the preceding Sunday, she wrote:

"I remember so well now when it was that I first began to pray really. For a long time, as convincing as your sermons seemed to be, I just couldn't believe that anything like an answered prayer could ever happen to me."

Marvelous things could happen to other people, apparently—but not for her. How many times have you encountered the same strange assumption?

"Then one Sunday," her letter continues, "a reference was made to a great big prayer in which Mrs. Peale had a part. Right then and there I commenced to ask myself if there could be any reason why God would hear a prayer for Mrs. Peale and He wouldn't hear one for me."

"To my surprise there was a direct answer, and I only had to wait three days for it."

A PERSON OFTEN has to wait much longer than three days and pray and pray and keep on praying before an answer comes. In letting this woman receive an answer so speedily perhaps the Lord wanted to startle her into further thinking. At any rate she drew a very sensible inference:

"It was evident that I needed to learn more about prayer. So I took advantage of a series of talks on prayer which were being given at that time."

"I think," she concludes, "that my faith in prayer has developed rather slowly under crisis, and I still don't know too much about it, but I am sure of it now."

If you are not getting your problems solved, it just could be that you have not been praying enough. Maybe you should try asking God about it.

Or it could be that you have prayed, but only half-heartedly, in a perfunctory way. Notice the woman's phrase about how she "first began to pray really." The significant word is really. James Russell Lowell was once moved to write: "I, that still pray at morning and at eve—

Thrice in my life perhaps have truly prayed, Thrice, stirred beneath my conscious self, have felt That perfect disenthralment which is God."

IT IS POSSIBLE to go through the motions and formalities of prayer every day in the year without ever really getting our mind and heart lifted up into the kind of condition that brings real help and guidance. An old man whom I met one time stated it well in his picturesque language. He said the trouble with most prayers is, "They're so thin they ain't got no suction to 'em."

I think most of us can learn much, to our enormous benefit, from the great text beginning, "Ask, and it shall be given you." If you study these words, you will observe that they call upon us to show initiative, desire and force if we want God's help; to put forth energy and to be persistent. Ask...seek...knock. These are powerful verbs of action.

WHEN YOU WANT something or have a problem to solve, do you actively seek the ways and means? Do you earnestly look for the solution? Or do you just vaguely hope it will somehow come to you?

Do you systematically knock on all doors you know of that might logically take you closer to an answer—or just knock at one or two and let it go at that? Do you knock boldly, resolutely; or so timidly with such zephyr touch you could expect barely to be heard?

And do you ask with the faith and the expectancy that make it possible for help to come through to you? Do you watch for your answer? Do you listen? Do you believe you will get it?

Be bigger, stronger, more persistent in our praying. Try really asking.

Grownups forget that a child experiences fear, disappointment and despair even more often than they.

Experience prepares the adult for sudden shocks. A child stumbles upon them unaware.

And each will breed more bitterness in his heart, if he has not found firm foundation for his courage, perseverance and hope.

But when a boy or girl has been given the undergirding of religious faith, the dreadful moments challenge rather than destroy.

Our children pray more often than we realize. They believe more confidently than we suppose. Life teaches them to draw strength from their faith... self-confidence from their trust in God.

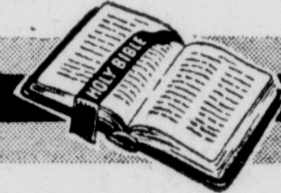

But you and I must provide them opportunity to acquire faith. And our own example in worship and life must inspire their trust in God.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH.

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Dave Edling Leaves Bench to Spark 19-0 Salem Win

Speedy Junior Races 29, 71 Yards for TD's in 4th Quarter

Big Campbell Memorial Team Never Threatens As Quakers Cop No. 5

By DICK BRAUTIGAM

substitute halfback Dave Edling carried the ball only three times last night but he was just about the whole offensive show as the Salem Quakers rolled over Campbell Memorial, 19-0, at Reilly Stadium.

It was the fifth straight victory and the fourth shutout scored by the Quakers this season.

Edling, a 145-pound junior, broke open a close game in the fourth quarter with a pair of scintillating touchdown runs which covered 29 and 71 yards.

The Quakers struck fast with a 7-yard touchdown run by halfback John DeFavero in the opening minutes of the game. From then on until Edling opened up in the final period, the Quaker offense coughed and sputtered except for a few short bursts by DeFavero, Ron Janovec and Chuck Hertel.

Sophomore Bill Beery, subbing for the ailing Gary Devan, played most of the game at quarterback for the Quakers and turned in a creditable performance considering his experience. Devan, who has a sprained ankle, was used on spot occasions last night but his ankle was obviously giving him trouble.

THE STOUT SALEM defense once again was superb as it kept the Campbell Memorial eleven stacked up deep in its own territory most of the night.

The deepest penetration the Red Devils were able to make was to Salem's 43 yard line. That came in the third quarter shortly after Rick Sulea went back near mid-field to punt but was downed when he allowed his knee to touch the ground while he retrieved a low pass from center.

Campbell Memorial was able to gain just 69 yards on the ground against Salem but the Red Devils also lost 47 yards leaving them a net of 22 yard rushing. They gained 16 yards on two completed passes giving them a net gain of a measly 38 yards.

Salem gained 229 yards rushing and 10 passing for a total of 239. Salem opened the scoring at the 6:34 minute mark of the first quarter when DeFavero shot off left tackle behind some fine blocking by Bob Wiggers to score from seven yards out.

THIS DRIVE STARTED on the Campbell 47 yard line and took just seven plays. Besides his touchdown gallop, DeFavero had runs of 13 and 10 yards in that drive. Janovec was stopped cold by the middle of the Campbell Memorial line in his attempt to run for the conversion.

The contest then settled into a defensive battle and it looked very much like the 6-0 score would hold up. Then lightning struck in the form of speedy Edling.

With just under four minutes left in the game, Campbell punted to DeFavero from deep in its own territory and the Salem halfback returned the pigskin to the 29. On the next play, Edling swung wide around his own right end, picked up his blockers nicely and raced the remaining 29 yards which gave the Salem a 12-0 lead with 3:32 left in the game.

Sulea's attempted placement for the extra point was wide to the left.

Campbell was unable to do anything with the ball following the ensuing kickoff and was forced to punt. On the first play from scrimmage on the Campbell 29 yard line, Edling started to run wide to his right again, working his way out to the 35 yard marker before he was hit.

Instead of going down, however, the slippery Edling wiggled out of the arms of a would be tackler and suddenly burst free. For the last 65 yards there wasn't a Campbell Memorial defender who could catch the long gone Edling.

THIS TIME SULEA was successful on his kick for the extra point and Salem took a 19-0 lead with only 1:09 remaining in the game.

In addition to his touchdown runs of 29 and 71 yards, Edling picked up nine yards in his only other carry in the second quarter to give him a total of 109 yards gained in three carries.

Standouts on defense for Salem were numerous. Tackle Butch Crawford partially blocked two of Memorial's nine punts. The 190-pound junior also recovered an enemy fumble and was in on 10 tackles.

Bob Elsner, Don Davidson, Fred Harshman and Jim Schuster were particularly rough on enemy ball carriers. Tony Chitrea was a stand-out on pass defense.

Little George Esterly played briefly but made one driving tackle which could be heard all over Reilly Stadium. Esterly received a hardblow on the head on that play and was forced to leave the game. He was still dazed when he reached the dressing room after the game.

Duane McClaskey threw his knee out of place again after playing a steady game at end as well as serving as one of Coach Blaine Morton's messenger boys.

CAMPBELL MEMORIAL Coach John Knapic said he thought his gridders looked fairly good on defense before they tired in the fourth quarter. Knapic said his squad has been riddled with injuries this year and this is not one of his better teams.

The Red Devil were big, outweighing the Quakers by more than 20 pounds per man in the line. Salem had some trouble solving the Memorial defense. Blocking assignments sometimes fouled up. Memorial's record is now one win, two losses and a tie.

Coach Knapic called the Quakers a "well-organized club which can move."

Coach Morton said he thought his team should have looked better, especially in the first three quarters.

Salem's next game will be at home Friday against Cleveland East.

Praises Pirate Hitters

Stengel Bases Hopes On Yankees' Pitchers

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Manager Casey Stengel doesn't think his New York Yankees will have any particular advantage over the Pittsburgh Pirates just because the next three games of the World Series are scheduled for Yankee Stadium.

After splitting the first two games at Pittsburgh, "the big thing is going to be pitching," said Stengel, "because they've got good hitters."

"But to tell you the truth I thought I was going to do better against them."

On the heels of the Yankees' 16-3 romp in the second game, that sounds like Stengel's out for blood as well as a record eighth world championship. Maybe so, but Casey was talking about defense, not offense, against the Pirates.

"Now I got me a man in right (Roger Maris) and there isn't a better right fielder in the American League. I mean defensively," said Casey.

"Now we know this club hits to right and with (Bill) Skowron at first base we know he can't move around too much there because of his back but my man at second base (Bobby Richardson) can cover the ground.

"And then I've got (Mickey) Mantle in center field and that locks it up against them."

"But then they go ahead and get on base on hits to right anyway."

The Bucs won the opener 6-4 at Forbes Field on hits to right—and Bill Mazeroski's home run over the left field scoreboard. And the three Pittsburgh runs in the second game were produced, or set up, by hits to right.

"I've been a little surprised," said Stengel, "and I've been a little disappointed."

World Series Tidbits

NEW YORK (AP)—The champion of all time for World Series participation and money earned is Frank Crosetti, the New York Yankees' third base coach.

This is Crosetti's 19th series, the first eight as a Yankee player and the last 11 as a coach.

Crosetti has collected a total of $111,114 for the 18 previous series and undoubtedly will get another full share when the official spit is announced later.

Casey Stengel hasn't done quite as well but he has piled up $72,209.12 from 12 previous series, nine as a manager and three as a player with Brooklyn in 1916 and the New York Giants in 1922 and 1923.

Of the current active Yankees the big man is Yogi Berra. This is his 11th series. In 10 previous series he collected a total of $66,821.17.

"I've got a few friends in from the West Coast at Pittsburgh," said Stengel, "and they tell me about this little kid sittin' in with them behind our Yankee dugout in that second game."

"Well, the little fella's wavin a Pittsburgh flag and yellin' all the time until about the fifth inning. Then we score them seven runs in the sixth inning and my people they start yellin' and the kid he can't yell too much, but he starts to tryin' to out-yell my people and that's pretty tough."

"Pretty soon, why my people get to yellin' so much, the kid can't keep it up. The little fella's almost dead."

"Well, my people see he's about gone so they pass him down one of them pencils I got at the bank. Got my signature on it."

"That kid looks at that pencil with my signature on it and him almost gone, and you know what he starts doin'?"

"Why, he starts yellin' and shoutin' for my club!"

Some 20,000 baseball fans have come to New York for the series, says the New York Convention and Visitors Bureau.

Lowellville Wins 4th; Goal Still Uncrossed

Lowellville maintained its record of not having its goal line crossed this season by blanking Mohawk of Bessemer, Pa., 6-0, Friday night on the loser's field.

The victory was the fourth in a row for the Inter-County League powerhouse.

Colts, Giants Favored Sunday Browns Idle; Oilers 4-Point Underdogs

By JIM KENSIL

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Baltimore Colts and New York Giants, off faster than when they won second straight conference titles last year, are favored to score their third victories Sunday and remain unbeaten in the National Football League.

The Cleveland Browns, also 2-0 and the only other undefeated pro team, are idle, giving the Giants a chance to take a clear-cut lead in the NFL's Eastern section with a victory over the Steelers 1-1 at Pittsburgh. The Giants are favored by a point. Baltimore, already a game ahead of the field in the Western sector, is favored by five points over the Packers (1-1) at Green Bay.

In the American Football League, where all eight teams have been beaten at least once, the feature game is at Houston Sunday where the Oilers (2-1) are 4-point underdogs to the New York Titans. The New York team leads the eastern section with a 3-1 record, while Houston is second with 2-1.

Tonight the Boston Patriots (1-2), third in the East, are at the Los Angeles Chargers (2-2), tied for second in the West with the Dallas Texans (2-2). The Chargers are six-point favorites.

Buffalo, 1-3 and last in the East, and Denver, leading the West with 3-1, are idle.

Dallas is a 10-point home favorite over the Oakland Raiders (1-3), the West's cellar team.

The Chicago Bears and San Francisco 49ers, grouped at 1-1 with the Packers behind the Colts in the NFL's Western section, are favored to keep pace with the defending champions. It's the 49ers by 4 over the Lions (0-1) at Detroit, and the Bears by 7 over the visiting Los Angeles Rams (0-2).

In the East, the Philadelphia Eagles (1-1) figure 6 points superior to the St. Louis Cardinals (1-1) and the Washington Redskins (0-1) rate the nod by a point over the visiting Dallas Cowboys (0-2).

Greenford Suffers 5th Loss In Row

Greenford's Bobcats suffered their fifth straight defeat as Northwestern, Pa., pinned a 6-0 loss on Coach Harry Frankland's gridders at Northwestern last night.

Northwestern tallied its winning touchdown in the first period when Goehring, punched over from the three-yard stripe.

Thompson's kick for the extra point was no good.

After the victors scored, the game turned into a defensive encounter and both clubs battered each other's forward walls but got nowhere.

Greenford will be host to Springfield Local Saturday in a non-league tilt.

Northwestern, Pa.—6 Ends—B. Sammons, Eaking. Tackles—Campbell, Young. Guards—G. Sammons, Brown. Center—Dunlap. Backs—Garrett, Goehring, Vosovic. Woods.

Roger Ours Paces Attack

Unbeaten Wellsville Whips Wheeling, 48-20

Wellsville's Bengals came out on top in a free-scoring encounter at Wheeling Central last night, 48-20 to keep their undefeated record preserved.

The Bengals have one tie to mar their slate and four victories. Wheeling has dropped four straight tilts.

Wellsville had quarter scores of 8, 16, 8, and 16, while Wheeling tallied 6, 8, 6 and failed to score in the final period.

Roger Ours paced the Bengal attack with a touchdown, two extra points and passed two touchdowns and heaved an extra point to figure in 24 points for the night.

WHEELING TOOK a 6-0 lead on a pass play that covered 20 yards from Flores to Monahan. Wellsville came back on a 26 yard run by Dick Brown. Ours pushed over the extra points and the Bengals led 8-6 at the end of the first period. The loser's scored first in the second stanza as Monahan grabbed his second TD pass from Flores and then hauled down a Flores aerial for two points to put Wheeling in the lead again, 14-8.

Wellsville went ahead to stay when the talented Ours scrambled 16 yards to paydirt and Hickman ran the extra points over to give the Bengals a 16-14 lead in the second quarter.

The final Bengal tally of the second period came when Ours took to the airways and hit Jack Culp with a 10 yard toss. Ours plunged over for the extra points and Wellsville had a 24-14 margin at halftime.

OURS KEPT throwing in the third canto and he zeroed in Doug Thomas for a 15 yard scoring play. Ours passed to Bob Kiggins for the extra points.

Wheeling tried to get back into the ballgame in the third period when Dezio took a five yard pass from Zaleski to chalk up a six pointer.

At the start of the fourth period, the Bengals' out in front 32-20 the winners poured it on. John Euill raced 19 yards to score and then Brown pushed over the extra points.

With time running out Thomas rang up his second score of the night by galloping 29 yards to paydirt. Euill added the final points of the night for Wellsville.

Wellsville will be at home to Weirton Madonna this Friday.

Lisbon Humbled 50-12 By East Palestine

Bush Accounts For Four TDs

3,500 See Lisbon Take Fifth Loss

East Palestine's Bulldogs rolled up seven touchdowns and four extra points to bury the Lisbon Blue Devils 50-12 last night at East Palestine in a Tri-County League encounter before 3,500 fans.

Jerry Bush accounted for four touchdowns and two extra points, and Jack Istnick pushed over two TD's and an extra point to lead the Bulldogs to their third straight league win. East Palestine, who copped the Tri-County laurels the past four seasons and is making a strong bid for its fifth, has a 3-1 season record.

Lisbon dropped its fifth consecutive tilt and third straight in league play.

THE BULLDOGS TALLIED 24 markers in the first period; 20 in the second; six in the third and were held scoreless in the final period.

Bush tentatively took over the Tri-County scoring lead over Polands' Bill Zimmer 50-28. Zimmer goes against Sebring today and will try to regain his lead. Going into last night's game Bush trailed Zimmer 24-28.

Istnick started the Bulldog's scoring parade as he took the first Lisbon punt with three minutes gone in the first period and scampered 95 yards to paydirt. Bush traveled around right end to add the two points.

A SEVEN-YARD SWEEP by the high scoring Bush tallied the victor's second TD of the frame and then Istnick romped over with the extra points. Palestine's Clayton Marshall recovered a Blue Devil fumble on the 18 yard line to set up the play.

On a double reverse, quarterback Istnick handed off to Bush and the fleet back sped 40 yards down the right side to the promised land. Bush ran over the two pointer to climax the first period scoring.

A recovery of his own fumble in the end zone by Istnick chalked up East Palestine's first touchdown of the second stanza.

Bush then intercepted a Lisbon pass tossed by Larry McPherson and ran 85 yards to score.

A THREE-YARD RUN around left end by Bush racked up the sixth Bulldog tally and Jim Wisser ran the extra points to give East Palestine a 44-0 lead at half-time. Substitute Ron Doll tallied the winner's final six pointer as he scooted two yards into the end zone.

Lisbon scored all its points in the final period, with Dave Rose accounting for all the markers. Rose tallied the first score by slicing off right tackle for three yards and then he came back to bust up the middle and elude the entire Bulldog defense for a 48-yard score.

Both coaches emptied their benches.

Next Friday the Bulldogs will be on the road, invading Austintown Fitch in a non league battle. Lisbon will be looking for its first victory of the season when it journeys to Sebring Friday.

Ford Hurls Against Mizell Today

Yankees Ruled 9-5 Favorites Over Bucs in World Series

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees ruled as 9 to 5 favorites today to capture the World Series. They and the Pittsburgh Pirates are tied 1-1, but several Pirates leave suffered injuries.

With fair weather predicted, a crowd of some 70,000 was assured for this third game which featured a southpaw battle between Whitey Ford, 32-year-old Yankee veteran, and Vinegar Bend Mizell, 30-year-old Pittsburgh Pirate pickup from the St. Louis Cardinals.

Ford brings only a fair 12-9 season record, his poorest mark in years, into the game but not to be discounted is his World Series experience which comprises 12 starts, including five victories and four defeats. In contrast, Mizell, who won 13 of his 18 games after the Pirates got him in a trade with St. Louis, had never seen the inside of Yankee Stadium until Friday's workout.

The Pirates figure to miss injured Bob Skinner's bat dearly although he didn't figure to play today because of the left-handed opposition. But Bob most certainly would have played Sunday and Monday, in the fourth and fifth games, were he healthy.

Bears Finally Score This Season

Leetonia Absorbs 4th Loss 28-13 at Minerva

The Minerva Lions turned back the invading Leetonia Bears 28-13 Friday night, in a Tri-County League contest but the losers had one consolation; they finally scored.

It was the first time the Bears made any points in four outings this year.

The invaders drew first blood in the contest when they marched

Casey Stengel, Yankee manager came up with his third lineup in three games. He said he would start Bob Cerv in left field and bat him second, behind leadoff man Gil McDougald. Tony Kubek, who rapped three hits in each of the first two games, was to bat seventh.

Elston Howard was slated to catch his second straight game and for the second time in the 10 World Series that Stengel has managed the club, Yogi Berra was scheduled to be on the bench.

Thursday's one-sided contest notwithstanding, Stengel lost one of his respect for the Pirates.

"They're pretty good hitters and they've still got that fine pitching and they don't scare easily," he said. "And from all the reports we have they bounce back pretty good. It's still anybody's series."

Danny Murtaugh, the quiet-spoken Pittsburgh manager, was far from down hearted.

"This isn't a club that will drop dead over one defeat," he said. "We don't choke up. All season long what we did or didn't do didn't affect us the next day."

Quarterback Paul Conrad passed to end Eric Painter for Leetonia's second touchdown. The pass traveled 11 yards and completed a 67-yard drive.

In the third period, Quarterback Gary Nigro passed seven yards to end Jim Tschabold who scored, giving the Lions a one-point lead 14-13. That touchdown was set up when center Dave Dourm recovered a Leetonia fumble on the Minerva 22-yard line.

Miller tallied again in the fourth period when he bulled over from the two-yard line. Bingham's run was good for the extra points.

Bingham plunged over from the two shortly afterward for the winners' final TD.

The Bears chalked up 14 first downs during the contest and the Lions, 13.

Leetonia has lost all four of its games this season and is 0-3 in Tri-County standings. The Bears will play again next Friday when they invade Columbiana in another loop fray.

Minerva has a 4-1 season record and is 2-1 in Tri-County competition. The Lions' next game will be Friday at Carrollton.

High School Fears Trouble

Ohio's Orphan Doesn't Play

CINCINNATI (AP) — Steve Pruitt didn't get to play football for Taylor against Norwood High School Friday night as he expected.

The judge had ruled last week young Pruitt could play for Taylor despite a ban by the association. The boy is an orphan and the association rules say he must live with his sister in nearby Harrison and play for Harrison High School. The boy wanted to stay at Taylor and took a rented room in the Taylor district.

Norwood beat Taylor Friday night, 8-6.

Judge Benjamin Schwartz agreed to hear he matter again Thursday.

Taylor school officials, uncertain if the standout linemen would get them in trouble with the Ohio High School Athletic Association, asked Friday for a new juvenile court hearing.

Barrymore Insults Rome Police, Jailed

ROME (AP) — Bearded John Barrymore Jr., hot-tempered son of the late great American actor, was cooling off in jail today, charged with insulting police.

Also in jail were Gabriella Palazzoli, young Barrymore's latest fiancée, her father, two of her brothers and three other Italian youths.

The trouble-latest incident in Barrymore's somewhat hectic Rome life—began Friday afternoon.

Barrymore, 28, was in a Rome street. An automobile with five Italian youths—including two of Gabriella's brothers who apparently are not overjoyed at her engagement to Barrymore—came up to the actor. Insults were exchanged. A scuffle developed. Police intervened and took the five youths into custody. Barrymore fled.

Later, Barrymore, Gabriella and her father went to a police station where the youths were being held. He sought their release.

Suddenly Barrymore ran to the cells and tried to open them to free the five. Police grabbed him. There was a brief scuffle and hot words.

Police took the entire group to Rome's major jail, Regina Coeli, a gloomy structure beside the muddy Tiber.

2 Women Hospitalized As Result of Falls

Two Salem women are receiving treatment in the Central Clinic for injuries sustained in recent falls at their respective homes.

Mrs. John Lewis of 489 S. Lincoln Ave. fell over a rug and broke her left ankle about 8:30 p.m. Thursday. She is in fairly good condition at the hospital.

Mrs. Malinda Sprowl fell in her garden at 251 W. 8th St. Friday at 1 p.m. and fractured her left hip. She is reported to be in good condition today.

Editor Horace Greeley, nominally a Republican, was the Democratic candidate for the presidency in 1872. He lost to Ulysses S. Grant.

Leetonia Legion Auxiliary To Entertain County Council

LEETONIA — American Legion Auxiliary held its regular meeting Wednesday evening when plans were made to entertain County Council Tuesday, Oct. 18, at 8 p.m. masquerade party will be featured.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Felix Perry and Mrs. Edwin McClish. A breakfast for men only, sponsored by the Knights of Columbus for the benefit of the school fund, will be held Sunday after the 8 o'clock mass. A short movie will be shown after the breakfast.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Foster of Oakdale, Pa., are visiting their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roy McElroy.

SIX TABLES of 500 were in play at the card party sponsored by the Rebekah Lodge Thursday evening. High honors were awarded to Mrs. Mabel Wisler and Clark McCowan. Special awards went to Miss Mabel Middleton, Mrs. Adin Harman and Raymond Baker. The next benefit will be held Oct. 15.

The Band Mothers Club will meet Monday evening at 8 in the High School cafeteria. All mothers with children in the band are urged to attend.

Deaths, Funerals

McPherson Infant

Graveside service was held at 10 a.m. today at Grove Hill Cemetery, Hanover, for the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. John McPherson of RD 2, Salem, who was dead at birth Tuesday in the Central Clinic Hospital.

Besides his parents, he is survived by a twin sister; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester McPherson of RD 2, Salem; and maternal grandfather, William Rump of RD, Kensington.

George F. Williams

LISBON — George Fraser Williams, 86, of Lisbon Rd. 1, a retired farmer, died Friday afternoon at the Crawford Nursing Home in Carrollton after three years' illness.

Born June 3, 1874 in Wayne Township, he was a son of Minnie and Sarah Jane Curran Williams. He lived his entire life in this area.

He was a member of the Bethel Presbyterian Church and a charter member of Wayne Township Grange.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Grace Ethel Clover Williams, whom he married Jan. 1, 1908; two daughters, Mrs. James D. Cross of Elyria and Mrs. Walter Hall of Tuscon, Ariz.; two sons, Thomas Williams of Delroy and George Foster Williams, Tuscon, Ariz.; two brothers, T. C. Williams of Huntington, W. Va., and R. T. Williams of Hammond, Ind.; and 11 grandchildren.

Services will be conducted Monday at 1:30 p.m. at the Eells-Leggett Funeral Home by the Rev. George Varner Jr., pastor of Bethel Presbyterian Church, and the Rev. Paul T. Gerrard, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. Burial will be in the Bethel cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Graham

United Nation under one roof." Graham said the gathering of heads of state here for the U.N. General Assembly reminded him of the Bible prophecy that "Toward the end of time, there will be a gathering of kings of the earth."

"They're asking 'What's wrong with the earth,'" he said, "and they're having difficulty finding the answers."

He told the audience made up mostly of Spanish-speaking Americans that the Communists say there's something wrong with the world and it must be changed.

"Change the social element and you change the human race," they're saying," he declared. "But they want to change it so you'll have guinea pigs."

Junior Fair Board To See Ice Capers

LISBON — Members of the Columbiana County Junior Fair Board will attend the Ice Capades in Cleveland this evening.

The trip was provided by the Columbiana County Agriculture Society in an effort to recognize the efforts of the Junior Fair Board at the Columbiana County Fair in August, according to Joseph Burger, county extension agent in 4-H work.

Those making the trip include James and Bill Skeels, Phil Converse, James Stewart, Robert John, Lee Stamp, Ronald Kampfer, Ray Mosher, Karen Shaw, Carol Hawkins, Pat Clark, Lelia Shade and Evelyn Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. Clem Laughlin, Miss Julia Shank, Don Myers and Mr. Burger.

Debate

grimly straight ahead as his rival spoke, blinking his eyes as he stored up ammunition for an often caustic reply.

The vice president, whose picture left some of his supporters winning in the first debate, showed up much better in this second effort. Kennedy appeared a little more relaxed than his rival.

Fielded First Question
Nixon fielded the first question and started off the "don't agree" note that held throughout most of the crossfire of exchanges.

He didn't agree, he said, with Kennedy's statement as related by a questioner that the Eisenhower administration should take the responsibility for the "loss" of Cuba.

He said he doesn't believe Cuba is lost. He said there isn't any question that the people there who want to be free "are going to be supported and that they will attain their freedom."

But he wanted to make one thing clear, Nixon said: "There isn't any question but that we will defend our rights there."

Kennedy replied tartly he never said Cuba was lost but only that "today Cuba is lost to freedom."

Accusing Nixon of having praised the competence and stability of the Batista dictatorship in 1955, he added: "I hope some day it (Cuba) will rise, but I don't think it will rise if we continue the same policy toward Cuba that we did in recent years, and in fact toward all Latin America."

The candidates clashed just as acridly over the defense of Formosa, held by the Chinese Nationalists. Kennedy said the islands of Quemoy and Matsu, off the coast of China, had been called indefensible in 1958 by Christian A. Herter, then undersecretary of state, as well as by military leaders.

"I think it is unwise to take the chance of being dragged into a war which may lead to a world war over two islands which are not strategically defensible, which are not, according to their testimony, essential to the defense of Formosa," he said.

Nixon fired back that he completely disagreed with Kennedy. "Now, I think as far as Quemoy and Matsu are concerned that the question is not the two little pieces of real estate," the vice president said. "They are unimportant. It isn't the few people who live on them. They are not too important. It is the principle involved."

Six From Lisbon Area Named 'Kennedy Girls'

LISBON — Six area girls have been selected to be "Kennedy Girls" at Reilly Stadium in Salem Sunday evening for the speech of Democratic candidate John F. Kennedy, according to Mrs. Mary Mellon, president of the Central Democratic Women's Club. Other Democratic organizations will also send girls, Mrs. Mellon said.

Final plans for the Democratic dinner Oct. 15 at Beaver Local School will be discussed Tuesday night when the Central Democratic Women's Club meets at the Democratic headquarters on the square.

The Kennedy Girls are Pamela Marshall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall; Barbara Harwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harwood; Robin Harner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie D. Harner; Deanna Serago, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Serago; Marilyn Gard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Max Gard; and Diana Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wilson of Hanoverton.

LABOR BACKS CHARTER
A meeting of the Upper Columbiana County Labor Council was held recently at the USAW hall on Prospect St. when Don Beeler, a candidate for the Salem charter commission, spoke. The Council pledged its support of the program.

Nikita

ominous warning: "If you want to subordinate us without giving us the right to those equal conditions, this will merely mean that we shall uphold our interests outside this international body, outside the U.N., relying on our own strength."

It was tough talk. Khrushchev went on to say, "this could lead to nothing else than a new exacerbation of the situation. If matters proceed in the direction of new aggravations, this can lead to, God knows what, because any exacerbation of the situation may in the final analysis lead to the cold war turning into a hot war."

A British official, John Russell, later said Macmillan had not "assured" Khrushchev that a summit conference will be held.

"The possibility of another summit, some time in 1961, was indeed implicit in the conversation," said Russell. "But there was no such positive assurance by Mr. Macmillan as that here alleged."

Russell said Macmillan neither accepted nor rejected the possibility of a special session of the assembly.

Denies Nikita's Statement
Russell denied Khrushchev's statement that Macmillan, discussing disarmament, had told the Soviet Leader he was "not in favor of making haste, but of waiting 5 or 10 years."

"This is not correct," Russell said. "What Mr. Macmillan said was that we must devise a system of arms control this would have to be stronger in its early years. Later, in 5 or 10 years perhaps, as confidence was gradually built up in light of the system's effective working, we might be able to relax the controls."

Russell also said Macmillan's call for a committee of experts to work on disarmament was not, "as Mr. Khrushchev alleges, to delay things." Russell said the suggestion in the expectation it would "lead to a very real acceleration of the program."

Khrushchev also told the correspondents he recognizes the Algerian rebel leaders as the "de facto government" of Algeria.

He said he considers this session of the Assembly "the most momentous since the U.N. was created."

And he disclosed that he does not believe in settling questions in the U. N. merely by majority vote.

Two Communist leaders, and perhaps Khrushchev, were reported leaving New York next week. They were Antonin Novotny of Czechoslovakia and Wladyslaw Gomulka of Poland, possibly Monday or Tuesday.

Wednesday was reported to be Khrushchev's departure date.

He prepared to go to the Soviet estate at Glen Cove, Long Island, after addressing the Assembly today.

Election

Judge Louis Tobin of East Liverpool who is unopposed; Court Clerk Carl L. Stacey of Columbiana; Treasurer Vincent C. Judge of Lisbon and Dr. William A. Kolozsi of Salem, coroner, also unopposed.

Charles H. Brant, former East Palestine councilman, is the Republican nominee for court clerk. Mrs. H. Doan Dixon of the Liverpool Rd., near Lisbon, is the GOP candidate for treasurer. She is a former employee of the treasurer's and auditor's offices in the Courthouse.

Stacey is seeking his first full term. He was elected to an unexpired term in November 1958. Dr. Kolozsi also is serving in an unexpired term and seeking his first full term. He was appointed in 1959 to succeed the late Ernest R. Sturgis of East Liverpool.

Judge is seeking his fifth term in the treasurer's office. Judge Tobin is bidding for his second full term. He was appointed to the bench June 13, 1951, to fill the unexpired term of the late Judge Milton C. Cope.

New Recorder Is Due
There will be a new face in the county recorder's office next term, regardless of the outcome of the election, as Mrs. Francis W. Morton of Wellsville, the GOP incumbent, will give up the post at the end of 1960. A Courthouse employee approximately 30 years, she did not file for re-election.

The Republican candidate for her post is Richard G. Brian of East Liverpool, operator of a men's clothing store and a former county commissioner. The Democratic nominee is John E. Graham of Wellsville, a deputy in County Auditor Kenneth Bell's office.

For the first time in 24 years, Democrats have a candidate for county engineer. He is John Ursu of Salem, who will run against the veteran GOP incumbent, Charles O. Snyder, also of Salem.
